

A Tool for Product Manufacturing Startups

1. How do you know if your selling price is just “right” for your market?

Price is validated by target users, matches competitor range, and balances affordability with profit margin.

2. How can you reduce your fixed costs even further?

Price is validated by target users, matches competitor range, and balances affordability with profit margin.

3. What marketing strategies have you designed to match the marketing budget?

Low-cost digital marketing via social media, college events, and word-of-mouth promotion.

4. When do you expect your revenues to surpass both fixed and variable costs (break-even)?

Around Month 8 of operations

5. How aligned are your sales growth estimates with the industry’s growth rates?

Aligned with moderate 10% monthly growth, realistic for early-stage consumer product startups.

6. What milestones need to be met before you feel confident raising external funds in exchange for equity?

Prototype validation, steady sales, user feedback, and initial market traction achieved.